Once upon a time there was an astronaut named Teddy. One day he climbed up into his rocket and blasted off into space.

He zoomed past asteroids and comets. Teddy was looking for the planet Jupiter. He found it one minute later.

Teddy landed and got out of his rocket to look for a lost star. But when he searched the whole planet, Teddy found no lost stars.

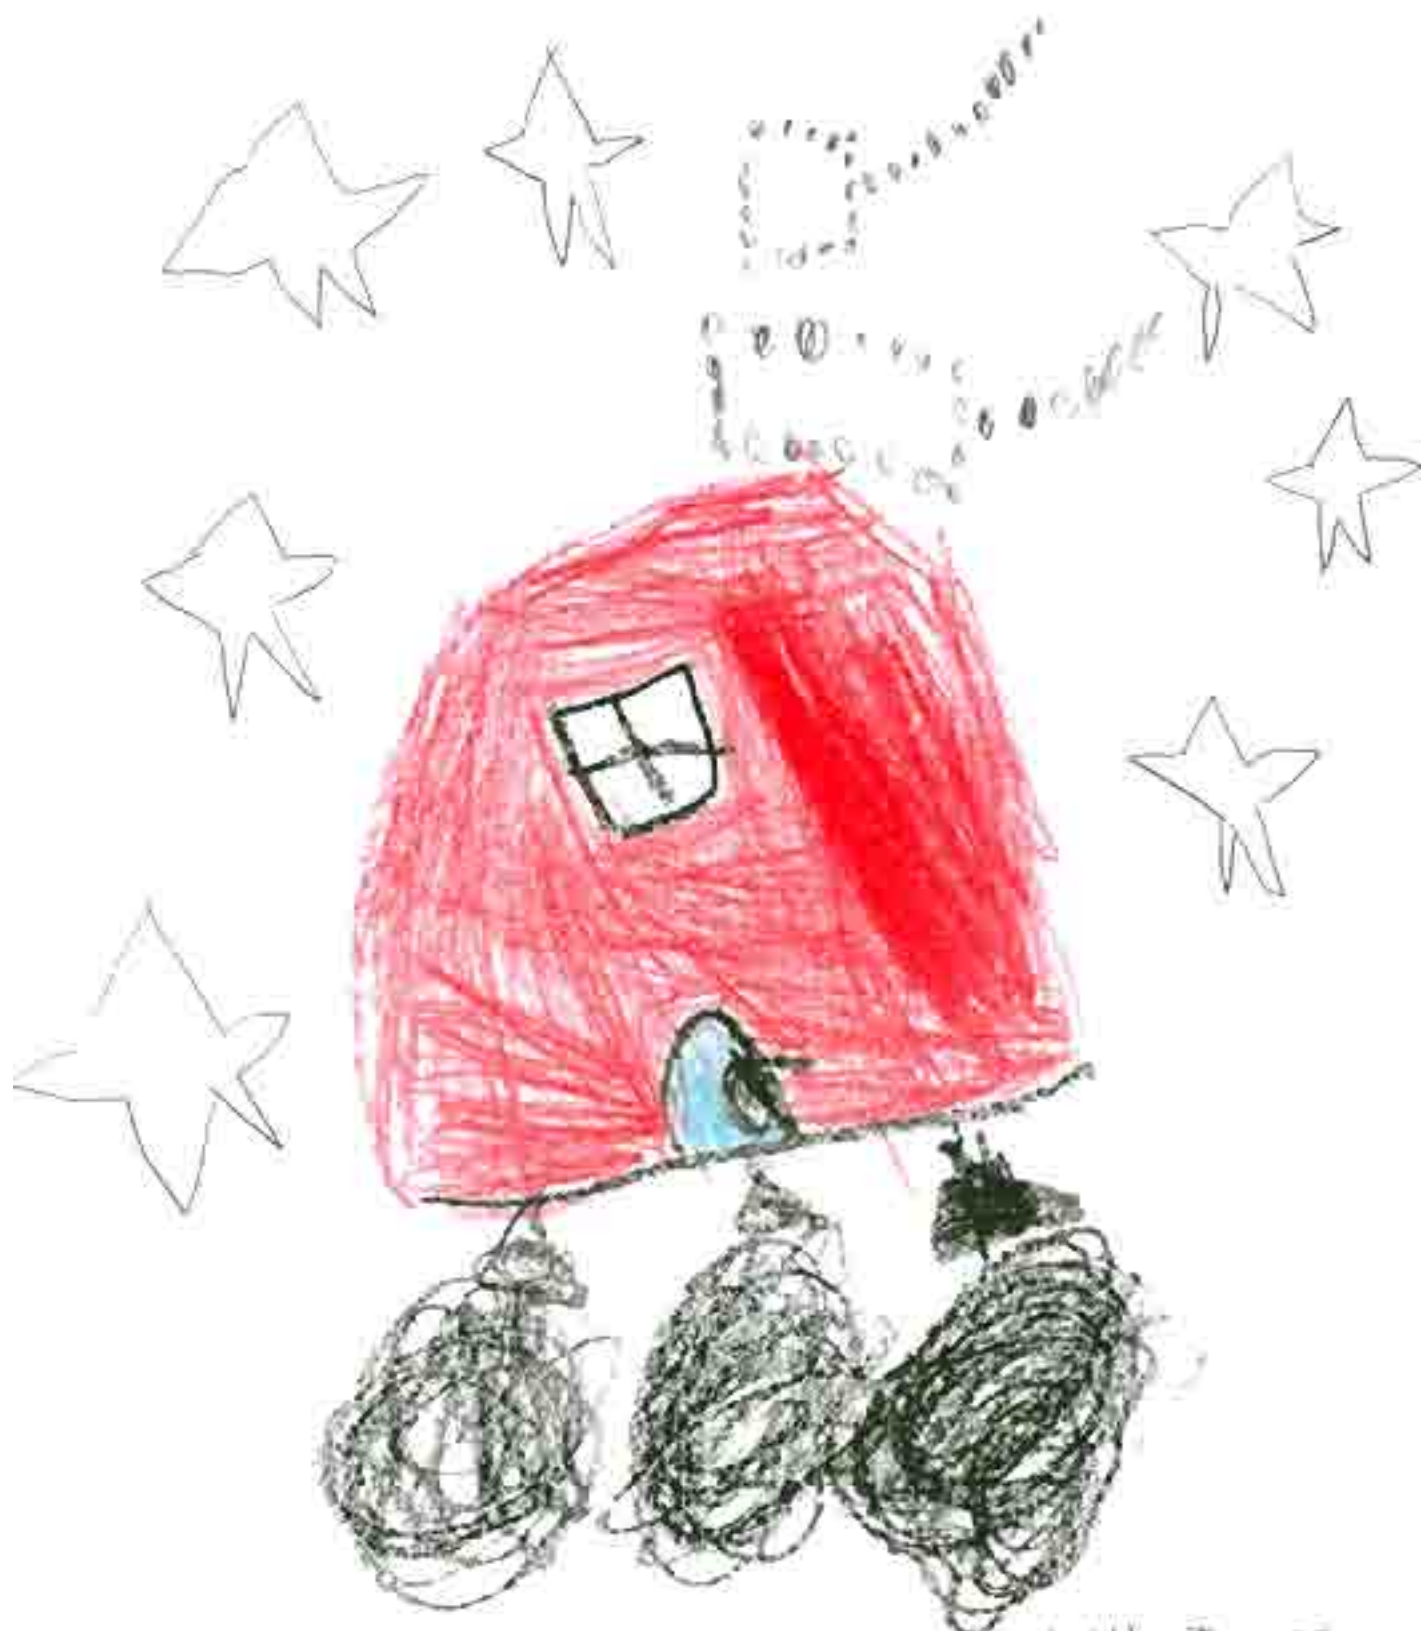

So he got back into his rocket and blasted off into space for home. On his way home Teddy heard something hit the top of his rocket.

He tied up his rope and went out to look. He found a falling lost star. Then he got back into his rocket and brought the star with him.

On the way home Teddy flew by the Big and Little Dippers. He noticed that the Little Dipper was missing a star. He asked the fallen star if the Little Dipper was his home, and the star said "yes"!

So Teddy put the star back in the Little Dipper, went back into his rocket, and went home to Earth to take a nap.

The End
