The nonprofit student loan providers that make up the Education Finance Council are making college more affordable.

Members of the Education Finance Council offer low-cost student loans to help students and families achieve their higher education goals. From college savings and planning tools to valuable student loan borrower benefits, loan resources offered by nonprofit student loan providers are more on their public program websites again.

A chain is only as strong as the weakest link.

The Association for Enterprise Integration (AFEI) strengthens the chain between industry and government by:

- providing collaboration opportunities,
- policy support
- interaction on technology innovation and information sharing issues.

Working to improve commerce and security in a global economy, AFEI is the link between industry and government.

To learn more about AFEI, visit our website at www.afei.org/info

AFEI is an affiliate of NDA.
