WETA Focus

Following a blockbuster January, we have another exciting slate of programs for you this month, the centerpiece of which is a fascinating new film from our friend, production partner, and renowned Harvard professor Henry Louis Gates, Jr. — a preeminent scholar of Black history and the Black experience in America. In the four-hour WETA co-production Gospel, airing February 12-13, Gates explores the history of gospel music and preaching, illuminating Black spirituality in sermon and song. The film spotlights Gospel in historical context, interweaving conversations with lively performances. Gates also hosts the February 9 program Gospel Live! Presented by Henry Louis Gates, Jr., an accompanying special that celebrates the music with star artists including John Legend.

Gospel is the latest film brought to the American public via an extraordinarily productive partnership between WETA, Gates and his film company Inkwell Media, and filmmaker Dyllan McGee and McGee Media. In the acclaimed films Making Black America: Through the Grapevine; The Black Church: This Is Our Story, This Is Our Song; Reconstruction: America After the Civil War; and Black America Since MLK: And Still I Rise, Gates has contextualized Black history in the American story. We are very proud of these important films, as we are of our collaboration with Gates on the enthralling genealogy and history series Finding Your Roots, which this month premieres more new Season 10 episodes.

Gospel anchors the WETA celebration of Black History Month in February, which features a wide array of documentaries, biographies, and independent films on our WETA PBS, WETA Metro and WETA World channels. Visit weta.org/blackhistory to learn about these programs.

Among our many additional offerings in February, watch for new culinary explorations in our local restaurant series Signature Dish and the next intriguing episode of our local arts and culture series WETA Arts — details are opposite this column. Last month's superb dramas continue, and we present stellar nature, science and history documentaries as well.

Enjoy our February programming, and thank you for your ongoing support for WETA.

WETA local restaurant series presents new episodes, Feb. 19 & 26, 9 p.m. on WETA PBS, 8 p.m. on WETA Metro; stream on the PBS App

The popular WETA local restaurant series Signature Dish returns with six new Monday episodes; two air on February 19 and 26 and four more premiere in March and April. Produced and hosted by Seth Tillman, the Emmy Award-winning production showcases the D.C. area's food scene. On February 19, in the episode

French Delights, the series dives into the rich tapestry and traditions of French gastronomy.

The first stop is at Chez Billy Sud in Georgetown, where Seth samples oeufs en meurette (eggs in a red wine sauce). In D.C.'s NoMa neighborhood, Le Clou seamlessly blends tradition with modernity in their ris de veau (sweetbreads basted in brown butter). And Bastille in Old Town, Alexandria, offers up a magret de canard (slow-seared Moullard duck).

The February 26 episode Flavors of China invites viewers to join Seth in Maryland, Virginia and D.C. as he savors the diverse and flavorful offerings of Chinese cuisine. The culinary adventure begins at Columbia Heights' Queen's English with a standout crispy whole red snapper. Then Rou jia mo (Chinese hamburger) is in the spotlight at Northwest Chinese in College Park. The final stop is at Yanzi Noodle House in Fairfax for luosifen (a noodle soup flavored with snails).

Denyce Graves, Bachata & More on WETA Arts

Monday, Feb. 5, 9:30 p.m. on WETA PBS;
8:30 p.m. on WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App and at weta.org

This month, the Emmy Award-winning local series WETA Arts presents an interview, conducted by host Felicia Curry, with renowned mezzo-soprano opera singer Denyce Graves. Born and raised in D.C., and a graduate of Duke Ellington School of the Arts, Graves has garnered international recognition as a singer. She was inspired by the almost-forgotten story of Mary Cardwell Dawson — who founded an all-Black opera company in 1941 — to launch The Denyce Graves Foundation, which works to promote equity and inclusion in American classical vocal arts. The foundation has spearheaded a partnership between music conservatories and Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) to develop the next generation of singers, while also recovering, promoting, and sponsoring classical music written by Black Americans.

In another February WETA Arts segment, at Ferocity Dance Company, choreographer and instructor Kat Arias demonstrates bachata, the social dance that has taken the Latin dance world by storm. The program also spotlights legendary D.C. artist and educator Alma Thomas, whose paintings have achieved international acclaim and reside in many important collections across the United States.

GOSPEL

HOSTED BY HENRY LOUIS GATES JR.

NEW FILM FROM WETA PARTNER HENRY LOUIS GATES, JR.

The WETA co-production airs February 12 & 13,
9 p.m. on WETA PBS; 8 p.m. & 9 p.m. on WETA Metro
Stream on the PBS App or, as of February 4, with WETA Passport

An engaging new documentary series from WETA partner Prof. Henry Louis Gates, Jr. spotlights gospel music and its history, artistry and power. The WETA co-production Gospel explores Black spirituality in sermon and song. The four-hour series, executive-produced, written and hosted by Gates, unfolds over two nights, February 12-13, weaving interviews with musical performances. For nearly a decade, WETA has been producing films with Gates, the Alphonse Fletcher University Professor and Director of the Hutchins Center for African & African American Research at Harvard University.

From the rhythms and riffs of blues, jazz, hip hop and more, African Americans have been driving sonic innovation for over a century. One sound that has been a constant source of strength, courage and wisdom, from the pulpit to the choir loft — is gospel. In the film, Gates speaks with clergymen, singers and scholars about their connection to the music that has transcended its origins and now is a global phenomenon. The series features luminaries such as Dionne Warwick, U.S. Senator Raphael Warnock, Rev. Otis Moss III, Prof. Michael Eric Dyson, and musical performances of gospel favorites such as “Can’t Nobody Do Me Like Jesus,” “Total Praise,” and other songs from talents including The Belle Singers, Cory Henry, Celisse and others.

Gospel is more than the soundtrack of the African American experience, “it’s the beating heart and soul,” said Gates. “From the Great Migration to today, the history of Black gospel music and preaching is one of constant movement, and it’s long been a dream of mine to bring it to public television.” In this new project, Gates again collaborated with series producers and directors Stacey L. Holman and Shayla Harris, who recently worked with him on The Black Church: This Is Our Story, This Is Our Song, also a WETA co-production. About Gospel, Holman and Harris said that the sacred sounds of gospel music and Black preaching “were the way that African Americans found their voice and their power in a strange land and have resonated far beyond the church’s walls.”

Music and Preaching, Words and Song

Gospel illuminates the history of Black religious music and preaching, showcasing the symbiotic relationship of words and song present in any Black church. The series examines the origin of Black gospel music, which blended the sacred spirituals with the blues tradition and soared to new heights during the Great Migration. The music came to serve as an outlet for the anger and frustration of living as a Black person in America. The series also explores the evolution of preaching styles over time, and how class, gender, cultural innovations, and consumer technologies shaped the development of gospel since its conception.

An Acclaimed Storyteller

Prof. Gates is one of public media's preeminent documentarians. Gospel is his latest history documentary series created in partnership with WETA. He has produced a wide array of critically acclaimed documentary history series on the African and African American experience, including, with WETA, Making Black America: Through the Grapevine (2022); The Black Church (2021); Reconstruction: America After the Civil War (2019); Africa's Great Civilizations (2017); and Black America Since MLK: And Still I Rise (2016). Gates and WETA also collaborate on the popular genealogy series Finding Your Roots with Henry Louis Gates, Jr., now in its tenth season. Gates also produced The African Americans: Many Rivers to Cross (2013) and the series African American Lives (2006).

Corporate support for the production of Gospel was provided by Bank of America. Major funding support was provided by the Lilly Endowment Inc.; Gilead Sciences, Inc.; the Corporation for Public Broadcasting; Emerson Collective; and Ford Foundation. Funding was also provided by members of The Inkwell Society and by public television viewers like you. Support for the local broadcast was provided by Praise 104.1, a Radio One station.

Beyond the Film

Gospel is a production of McGee Media, Inkwell Media and WETA. Visit the website pbs.org/gospel to learn more about the series. Join the conversation on social media with @HenryLouisGates and @PBS on Twitter and Instagram; /HenryLouisGatesJr and /PBS on Facebook; and by using #GospelPBS. Accompanying the production is a nationwide public engagement campaign that WETA is coordinating with public media stations around the country to inspire public participation in dialogue surrounding themes in Gospel. Educational resources on topics in the film will be available at PBS LearningMedia.

Concert Special Gospel Live!

Airing in association with the history series Gospel is the special hour-long production Gospel Live! Presented by Henry Louis Gates, Jr., Friday, February 9 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS and WETA Metro. The program, recorded live in Los Angeles at Oasis Church, shares a musical celebration of gospel music in America. Participants include Erica Campbell, John Legend, Anthony Hamilton and The Ton3s, LaTocha, Mali Music, Lena Byrd Miles, Sheléa, Tauren Wells and others.

Saturdays, Feb. 10 & 17 at 8 p.m. on WETA PBS;
Thursdays, 8 p.m. on WETA Metro;
stream with WETA Passport

WETA honors Black History Month in February with an extraordinary array of program offerings across the channels WETA PBS, WETA Metro and WETA World. Among the many presentations is the acclaimed two-part 2016 documentary Jackie Robinson, directed by Ken Burns, Sarah Burns and David McMahon, and co-produced by WETA and Florentine Films in association with Major League Baseball. The film chronicles the life of the renowned athlete and activist, who broke Major League Baseball's color barrier in 1947 — and waged a fierce, courageous, lifelong battle for civil rights and equality for all African Americans that transcends his remarkable achievements in sport. The film features extensive interviews with Robinson's family. Additional interviewees include President and Mrs. Obama; former Dodgers teammates Don Newcombe, Carl Erskine and Ralph Branca; and writers Howard Bryant and Gerald Early. Jamie Foxx is the voice of Jackie Robinson.

Nature: Attenborough and the Jurassic Sea Monster

Wednesday, Feb. 14 at 8 p.m. on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App

The Wednesday-night series Nature features iconic naturalist Sir David Attenborough unearthing an exciting discovery: the fossil of a giant Pliosaur, the largest Jurassic predator ever known. In Nature: Attenborough and the Jurassic Sea Monster, follow a team of forensic experts on a perilous expedition to excavate the skull, uncover the predatory secrets lying deep inside the fossil, and unlock clues about the life of this giant sea beast. Also on Nature this month, Flyways (Feb. 7) spotlights shorebirds, which fly thousands of miles north and south each year along ancient migratory routes but are imperiled by climate change and urban development. Follow a conservation movement of bird-loving experts and citizen scientists as they mobilize to save the birds, whose populations are crashing. In Patrick and the Whale (Feb. 21) follow wildlife cameraman and diver Patrick Dykstra on his quest to connect with the sperm whale, shining a light on the mammal's intelligence and complexity, as well as its relationship with humankind.

American Experience: Fly with Me

Tuesday, Feb. 20 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App

A new documentary explores the lives of the pioneering women who transformed the world while flying around it, telling the story of the young women who became flight attendants at a time when single women were unable to order a drink, eat alone in a restaurant, own a credit card or get a prescription for birth control. Becoming a “stewardess,” as they were called, offered unheard-of opportunities for travel, glamour, adventure and independence. But these workers were required to be young, single and attractive, which, in 1950s America, meant white. Weight and height guidelines were enforced; eyeglasses were not allowed; and retirement was compulsory as early as age 32. Although often maligned as feminist sellouts, flight attendants were on the frontlines of the battle to assert gender equality and transform the workplace. Through firsthand accounts, personal stories and a rich archival record, learn the story of these women who broke barriers with challenges to discrimination and inequality.

NOVA: Easter Island Origins

Wednesday, Feb. 7 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App

Science series NOVA spotlights the iconic monoliths of the remote Pacific island of Rapa Nui (Easter Island). How were the giant stone heads carved and raised, why, and by whom? In Easter Island Origins, learn about a new generation of researchers overturning old theories to reveal the rich history, innovation and resilience of the Rapa Nui people, and uncovering new evidence about where they — and their stone building practices — came from. Also on NOVA this month, Building the Eiffel Tower (Feb. 14) explores the revolutionary engineering behind Paris's iconic iron landmark, completed in just over two years for the 1889 World's Fair and ushering in a new age of global construction. Then, in Hunt for the Oldest DNA (Feb. 21) follow the dramatic quest to recover DNA millions of years old and reveal a lost world from before the last Ice Age. For decades, scientists have tried to unlock the secrets of ancient DNA, and one maverick had an idea about a new place to look.

WETA UK Highlights

Les Misérables on Masterpiece

Fridays at 9 p.m. starting Feb. 9 on WETA UK

Victor Hugo's beloved novel comes to life in this six-part adaptation scripted by Andrew Davies (Pride & Prejudice; Bleak House) and featuring a cast of luminaries. The screenwriter preserves Hugo's intricate plotting, historical vignettes, powerful themes and evocative characterizations; love, death and the struggle for social justice in early 19th-century France all feature in the faithful retelling of the story. Dominic West (The Crown; The Wire) stars as Jean Valjean, the most famous fugitive in literature; and David Oyelowo (Selma) is his relentless pursuer, Javert. The two are joined by a British ensemble cast that includes Lily Collins as tragic seamstress and luckless single mother Fantine; Ellie Bamber as Fantine's adolescent daughter, Cosette; Olivia Colman and Adeel Akhtar as the Thénardiens, Cosette's cruel overseers; and Josh O'Connor as the student-revolutionary Marius, who falls in love with Cosette. Derek Jacobi portrays the kindly Bishop of Digne, who rescues Valjean at his lowest ebb.

COURTESY MASTERPIECE

Van der Valk, Series 1 on Masterpiece

Tuesdays at 8 p.m. starting Feb. 20 on WETA UK

Marc Warren stars as title character Piet van der Valk, a dogged, street-smart Dutch detective in Masterpiece adaptations of Nicolas Freeling's bestselling thriller novels of homicide in Holland. The steely-eyed commissaris (inspector) navigates his murder-infested beat in Amsterdam, solving baffling crimes in the prosperous, cosmopolitan and crime-prone capital. The detective lives solo on an old sloop anchored in the harbor, where he wrestles with the painful memory of a lost love. His partner in crime-fighting, right-hand woman Lucienne Hassell (Maimie McCoy), too has been thwarted in romance. Among his colleagues, incorruptible but indulgent chief Julia Dahlman (Emma Fielding) is recovering from a near-death experience on a previous case, and the team's pathologist Hendrik Davie (Darrell D'Silva) immerses himself in Amsterdam's guilt-free pleasures.

Nina

Tuesdays at 10 p.m. starting Feb. 27 on WETA UK

A French medical and romantic drama stars Annelise Hesme as a nurse trainee who must overcome an array of obstacles in her private life, as a single mother, and at her hospital workplace as ex-wife of her new boss. The series, from Walter Presents, is in French with English subtitles. Compelled to interrupt her studies and career path in medicine for 10 years to raise her daughter Lily, who was stricken with cancer, Nina put her aspirations to become a doctor on hold. After Lily is cured, Nina at age 39 seeks to chart her own course anew by becoming a nurse at the Madeleine Brès Hospital's internal medicine department, headed by her former husband, Dr. Costa Antonakis (Thomas Jouannet). She unwittingly rekindles antagonisms between Antonakis and his professional rival, Dr. Samuel Proust (Grégoire Bonnet), and upsets Antonakis's romantic relationship with a young pediatrician at the hospital.

American Experience: Zora Neale Hurston: Claiming a Space

Saturday, Feb. 3 at 8 p.m. on WETA Metro

Airing as part of WETA's Black History Month programming (visit the website weta.org/blackhistory to learn more), a biography spotlights the influential author whose groundbreaking anthropological work challenged assumptions about race, gender, and cultural superiority that had long defined the field in the 19th century. Zora Neale Hurston studied at Howard University before in 1925 arriving in New York, where she would become a key literary figure of the Harlem Renaissance and be remembered best for her novel, Their Eyes Were Watching God. But she also discovered anthropology at Barnard College and documented the lives of rural Black people and collected their stories — in her lifetime becoming known as the foremost authority on Black folklore.

Go-Go City: Displacement and Protest in Washington, D.C.

Thursday, Feb. 15 at 10 p.m. on WETA Metro

For decades, Washington, D.C. has been a beacon for Black culture and community. Now, however, a wave of economic and cultural gentrification threatens to erase this history. The documentary Go-Go City, a film by Samuel George of the Bertelsmann Foundation, dives into this topic and the forces behind gentrification. The film interweaves history with scenes of 2020 protests for racial justice as displaced communities took to the streets to rally around the city's beloved Go-Go music as a way to retake the streets and make their voices heard. Featuring interviews with icons of the music genre and with business leaders, the film offers an historical overview of the cultural and economic forces at work in the local D.C. community.

Unforgivable Blackness: The Rise and Fall of Jack Johnson

Saturdays, Feb. 17 & 24 at 8 p.m. on WETA Metro

Ken Burns's powerful two-part 2005 film chronicles the tumultuous life of Jack Johnson, the first Black heavyweight boxing champion, whose early 20th-century achievements in the ring won him enormous fame but also unprecedented animosity from white America — as did his relationships with white women. The WETA co-production explores race in America as it presents the biography of this extraordinary athlete. Johnson, born in 1878, won the world heavyweight crown in 1908 and then famously defeated a series of white challengers. The film explores how the U.S. government then persecuted Johnson for what W.E.B. DuBois termed "his unforgivable blackness."

Real Stories from Around the World

The Black Church: This Is Our Story, This Is Our Song

Saturdays, Feb. 3 & 10 at 8 p.m. on WETA World

Airing as part of WETA's Black History Month programming (visit weta.org/blackhistory for details), an illuminating 2021 documentary series from WETA partner and Harvard professor Henry Louis Gates, Jr., traces the 400-year-old history and culture of the Black church in America. The WETA co-production — executive-produced, written and hosted by Gates — spotlights the central role of faith and spirituality in the African American community, and explores faith communities on the frontlines of hope and change. The two-part, four-hour film follows the story of the church's bedrock role as the site of African American survival and grace, organizing and resilience, thriving and testifying, autonomy and freedom, solidarity, and speaking truth to power. Shuttlesworth

Friday, Feb. 2 at 9 p.m. on WETA World

In celebration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Reverend Fred Shuttlesworth, a documentary spotlights the life and legacy of the Birmingham civil rights leader and icon, an unrelenting freedom fighter. The film examines his crucial contributions to the Civil Rights Movement — which in turn helped to define the national consciousness on civil rights and amplified the integral role that Birmingham played as the catalyst in propelling the movement onto the national stage. Beginning with his segregated childhood, Shuttlesworth follows the Reverend's life through Bethel Baptist Church, the Birmingham Campaign, and the reactionary violence unleashed by the city's white power structure, including a bombing attempt on Shuttlesworth's life, and beatings. The film features interviews with Shuttlesworth and his contemporaries.

Eyes on the Prize, Series 1 & 2

Thursdays at 8 p.m. starting Feb. 1 on WETA World

Following WETA's Martin Luther King Jr. Day marathon airing of Eyes on the Prize, Series 1, the iconic history film on race in America and the Civil Rights Movement, this month WETA World reprises Series 1 (starting Feb. 1) and also presents Series 2 (starting Feb. 22). Series 1's six episodes cover 1954-1965; and Series 2's eight episodes explore the years 1965-1985, chronicling the movement in the period from the emergence of Malcolm X to the election of Harold Washington as the first African American mayor of Chicago. The late Julian Bond, political leader and civil rights activist, narrates. Eyes on the Prize won six Emmy Awards, the duPont-Columbia Gold Baton Award and two Peabody Awards, and it was nominated for an Academy Award.

Wu Fei

Welcome the Chinese New Year on Front Row Washington

Monday, February 12 at 9 p.m.

Celebrate the Chinese New Year with WETA Classical in a concert from the National Gallery of Art on Front Row Washington, the weekly program showcasing performances around Greater Washington by world-class artists and ensembles. In the spotlight on February 12 is Wu Fei, an award-winning Beijing-born classically trained composer, singer and guzheng (Chinese plucked zither) performer known for her melding of traditional Chinese and Western music. She describes her composition, Hello Gold Mountain, as “a requiem for lost possibilities of the Jewish community of Shanghai.” The work was inspired by stories of the tens of thousands of Jewish refugees who fled to Shanghai from Europe during World War II.

In the performance of the piece, Wu Fei is joined by oud player Shanir Ezra Blumenkrantz and the Inscape Chamber Orchestra. Tune in to Front Row Washington, Mondays at 9 p.m.

Washington Master Chorale: Poetry Into Song on Choral Showcase

Sunday, February 25 at 9 p.m.

Featured on Choral Showcase on February 25 is Poetry Into Song, a concert given by Washington Master Chorale under the direction of Thomas Colohan last March at Washington’s National Presbyterian Church. The highlight of the performance, a new work by David Conte called The Unknown Sea based on the poetry of Elizabeth Bishop, was commissioned by one of the Chorale’s founders, Diane Kresh. In other Sunday, 9 p.m. Choral Showcase programs this month, hear Puccini’s Messa di Gloria, or “Gloria Mass” (Feb. 4), which points the way forward to his later operatic triumphs; Dixit Dominus (Feb. 11), a psalm of triumph over adversity, in settings from Scarlatti, Handel, and Mozart; and Paul Hindemith’s moving requiem, When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom’d (Feb. 18), which honored the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt by setting Walt Whitman’s ode to President Lincoln.

Classical for Washington

New NSO Recordings of All Nine Beethoven Symphonies on WETA Classical

Tune in February 15 for a Beethoven marathon

As the National Symphony Orchestra takes to the road on a European tour, WETA Classical presents a “Beethoven Sendoff Celebration” — a special marathon that celebrates the NSO’s musical journey on the Continent and also spotlights an exciting new CD release from the ensemble. The NSO’s expedition is the first European tour with Music Director Gianandrea Noseda leading the orchestra; a 2020 tour was cancelled during the pandemic. After a concert at Carnegie Hall on February 12, the orchestra will hop the pond and visit concert halls in Spain, Italy and Germany during the period February 16-28.

Follow the tour

Follow the NSO’s tour via WETA Classical, which will be sharing news of the performances each day on the air, on WETA Classical social media channels @wetaclassical on Facebook and Instagram, and on the WETA Classical blog Classical Score at classicalscore.org.

Hear the NSO’s new Beethoven recordings on WETA Classical on February 15

Coinciding with the NSO’s European tour, on February 24 the ensemble is releasing Beethoven: The Complete Symphonies, a monumental new CD box set (digital release February 9) presenting a suite of NSO recordings of all nine of the composer’s iconic works, the culmination of a multiyear recording project that began in 2021. Also being released is a Blu-ray video of an NSO performance of the Ninth Symphony. Enjoy the recordings on WETA Classical on February 15, when the station cues up a marathon airing of the box set.

Learn how to win a Beethoven box set

WETA Classical has several copies of the NSO Beethoven: The Complete Symphonies box set to give away during the February 15 marathon airing of the recordings! Visit wetaclassical.org to learn how to enter the drawing.

More on the NSO from WETA Classical

Recordings from the National Symphony Orchestra air on WETA Classical on a regular basis, including on the NSO Showcase program on the first Wednesday of each month — see details below on this month’s show. NSO Music Director Noseda and the orchestra’s musicians are often featured on WETA Classical’s blog Classical Score, and you can hear an interview with Maestro Noseda on the WETA Classical podcast Classical Breakdown as well.

Respighi, Schumann & Borodin on NSO Showcase Wednesday, February 7 at 9 p.m.

In February, the National Symphony Orchestra will be touring Europe, and among the stops along the way, Music Director Gianandrea Noseda will bring the NSO to his home city, Milan, for a performance at the Teatro alla Scala on February 26. In honor of this musical homecoming, WETA Classical’s NSO Showcase this month features the NSO performing two Italian favorites by Respighi: Trittico Botticelliano and Fontane di Roma. The February program also pays tribute to the portion of the tour in Germany with a performance of Schumann’s “Rhenish” Symphony — and takes a musical side trip with Borodin’s Polovtsian Dances. Stream the program all month at wetaclassical.org. Hear concert performances by the orchestra on the WETA Classical program NSO Showcase at 9 p.m. on the first Wednesday of each month.
